Examiner's Amendment and Reasons of Allowance

The Status of Claims

Claims 1-5 are pending.

Claims 1-5 have been allowed.

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with an attorney of record, Mr. Charles L. Gagnebin III on 11/23/2004 .

I. The application has been amended as follows:

In claim 1, lines 8 and 10 on page 9:

The term "--a --" before the word " temperature " has been added.

In claim 3, line 21 on page 9:

The term "--a --" before the word " temperature " has been added.

II. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

- The close reference for the current invention is Misra et al (Plant Medica 63: p. 582, 2/1997).

Misra et al teaches the preparation of Oleanolic acid from the rootlets and root bark of Lantana camara in the following steps:

- a. extracting the dried rootlet and root bark three times with a solvent mixture containing hexane, ethyl acetate, and methanol at room temperature;
- b. isolating fractions of beta-sitosterol on the silica gel on the column chromatography, thereby yielding oleanonic acid (see page 582).

The instant invention, however, differs from the prior art in that the claimed steps are consisted of grinding the dried root and defattening the root power with organic solvent for the period of 6-12 hours at the temperature of from 30 to 40⁰ C prior to the extracting step; furthermore, the claimed Oleanolic acid is isolated from the crystallization technique instead of the chromatography technique in the prior art. In addition, unless all limitations of the claims are met, there is no prior art rejection. See In re Zurko 59 USPQ 2d 1690 (Fed Cir. 1991) and In re Lee, 61 USPQ 1430 (Fed Cir. 1991).

Therefore, the claimed invention would not have been obvious to the person with an ordinary skill in the art.
